

2011 Graduate Student Fellowship Recipients

Jane
Vaynman

*Government,
Harvard University*

“Designing Cooperation: Information Sharing Features in Adversarial Security Agreements”

Joshua
Itzkowitz
Shifrinson

*Political Science,
MIT*

“Life on the Downward Slope: Explaining State Decisions to Support or Exploit Declining Great Powers”

Jonathan
Renshon

*Government,
Harvard University*

“Fighting for Status: How Status Concerns Affect States’ Decisions in the Domain of International Security”

Miranda
Priebe

*Political Science,
MIT*

“Managing the Rise of Regional Challengers: Assessing the Consequences of Mixing Conciliatory and Firm Policies”

Sameer
Lalwani

*Political Science,
MIT*

“The Wars Within: Explaining State Strategies of Counterinsurgency and Consolidation”

Jeffrey
Friedman

*Public Policy,
Harvard Kennedy
School*

“The Strategy Trap: Why Counterinsurgents Find it So Difficult to Avoid, Realize, and Correct their Mistakes”

Adam
Chilton

*Government,
Harvard University;
J.D. Candidate,
Harvard Law School*

“Do Laws Ameliorate the Horrors of War? A Causal Analysis of Compliance with the Laws of War”

Nathan Black

*Political Science,
MIT*

“The Causes of Substate Conflict Contagion”

For more information about the Tobin Project’s graduate student programs, please contact Kendell Sadiik at ksadiik@tobinproject.org.